

Interferry's COVID 19 Statement – Hobart Conference Oct 24-28, 2020

With our Hobart conference still seven months away, Interferry continues to prepare for the event, in a similar manner as previous years, with the expectation of delivering another successful gathering of the global ferry community this coming October.

We are continuing to consult with one of the largest conference and event planning organizations in the world and their advice has been to evaluate the situation in about 60 days from now -- since this will be the critical timeline for analysing respective countries' success in "flattening the curve" for COVID-19.

Interferry will also continue to monitor the COVID-19 situation via the World Health Organization and Tasmanian Department of Health, as well as other applicable health agencies. Should planning for an October conference change, we will update you accordingly.
